Still using spreadsheets to solve the multi-dimensional problem of salary allocations from multiple grants to multiple people over time? Personnel Manager can do this for you faster, accurately, and in a much more organized manner.

Personnel Manager gives you a much easier way to monitor, calculate and allocate personnel expenses. It protects grants from overdrafts, covers payroll for every employee, and integrates with Grant Manager for overall record keeping. With Personnel Manager you can quickly and effortlessly change fund allocations between grants and employees. You can also run what-if scenarios to predict what impact new employees, pay raises, fringe benefit adjustments, or any other salary changes would have on your grants:

- Tracks and analyzes salary and fringe payments to employees from many different sources as funding sources, employees, fringe benefits and salaries change over time
- Provides powerful tools to predict the impact of salary and personnel changes on grant budgets and balances
- Displays intuitive, interactive timelines on employee and grant expenses and allocations
- Provides comprehensive, easy-to-read reports that show past, present and future salary expenditures
- Exports salary data to Grant Manager for comprehensive record keeping
- Simple user interface makes it easy to perform even extremely complex salary calculations and analyses quickly and effortlessly

Let Personnel Manager handle the four-dimensional problem of people, grants, allocations and time. Then merge all salary expenditures into Grant Manager for complete record keeping and accounting of all of your grant expenditures.

“Personnel Manager is an exceptional shadow system that allows me to distribute personnel with total accuracy and reliability across multiple grants. I can prepare ‘what if’ scenarios for Principal Investigators with great ease, identifying percentages of time and possible salaries that each grant can sustain. I project upcoming salary increases, fringe benefit costs, and any salary exposure well in advance. Personnel and grant projection reports are invaluable. This is truly a research administrator’s dream come true!”
